Description:

- Enter the forest, moving downhill and cross the stream at a two pipe crossing.
- Turn left after the crossing and follow the stream on your left.
- You will come to a picnic spot where there are two tables and benches.
- This is where the two rivers meet.
- Further along you will come to a bridge on your left.
- Without crossing the bridge you can go straight to the waterfall. This only flows when there has been enough rain to fill all the dams upstream. After heavy rains this is a beautiful spot.
- Go back to the bridge, cross over and follow the blue arrows.
- This will lead you up towards Village 2 and then back down towards the river.
- There are a number of sections that meet other parts of the trail so watch out for the arrows.
- The trail reaches the top end and starts its way back. There are a couple of spots that overlook the river.
- Coming back you go down to a pond (which feeds the waterfall). In dry times this is empty.
- There is a picnic table and benches underneath the trees.
- Making your way back you rejoin the trail and walk back to the entrance.
